The W. I. will hold their next meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 9th at the home of Mrs. G. F. Smith in Champion. All members are requested to be present.

Word received from B. M. Roberts, who is now at Battle Creek, Mich., is very reassuring to his many friends here. He expects to be home in about two months.

Community Hall Meeting

A community hall meeting will be held in W. C. Hoskins store on Saturday Evening, Jan. 23rd, at 8 o'clock. Efforts will be made at this meeting to form a joint stock company. It is hoped that real progress will be made this year in getting the project under way. Everyone interested is requested to be present at this meeting, and give their assistance in promoting this very desirable undertaking.

Sermon Series

Rev. Joseph Lee commenced a series of sermons entitled "Concerning Jesus Christ," at the United Church last Sunday evening. Mr. Lee took for his subject: "The Masterliness of Jesus." The complete list of the series is as follows:

- January 17, The Masterliness of Jesus.
- 21, The Gentlemanliness of Jesus.
- 21, The Friendliness of Jesus.
- February 7, The Purposefulness of Jesus.
- 11, The Endurance of Jesus.
- 21, The Worker.
- 28, The Light of the World.
- March 7, The Saviour of the World.
- 14, The Unavoidable Christ.
- 21, The Love of Christ.
- 28, The Sacrifice of Christ.

Kindly make a clipping of this list for reference.

An issue of provincial bonds totaling $1,200,000 was disposed of the past week to Wood, Gundy & Co., and the Royal Bank at a figure of 94.98, yielding 1.97. The sale was highly satisfactory. Last fall bids were rejected on a similar issue, and as a result the province was able to obtain a price which was 44 better than the best offered at that time. In consequence, the province is better off by some $10,000.

Alberta's creamery butter during the past season won 38.7 per cent of all prizes offered at the 11 exhibitions in Canada at which exhibits from this province were shown, according to a statement compiled by Dr. McKee, dairy commissioner. The number of prizes won was 75 out of a possible 710. Of all first prizes offered, Alberta won 59, or 32 per cent. Of second prizes, 44 per cent. was won; of third prizes, 44 per cent. of fourth prizes, 25.5 per cent., of fifth prizes, 24.5 per cent., of sixth prizes, 8.3 per cent., of seventh prizes, 33.3 per cent., and of eighth prizes, 22.2 per cent. In the eastern exhibitions, Alberta won 15 out of 41 prizes at Ottawa, 10 out of 36 at Toronto, and 9 out of 21 at London.

The second edition of the Hockey Pictorial is on the market, more complete and up-to-date than the original edition, which was received with acclaim by followers of the great winter sport. Most favorable comments have been passed upon the publication by sports writers the continent over, and the general opinion as expressed by players and series is that no more comprehensive or handsome book in the sporting line was ever printed. A feature that should possess a marked appeal not only to puck-chasers of the present, but to old timers are the many group pictures of champion teams, dating back to the early history of hockey. The new edition not only contains the history of hockey in Canada, but covers the history of the game in the United States as well, with handsome engravings of Canadian and American teams, and is right up to the minute in every respect. Any further information pertaining to the book can be obtained by writing to George King, Publisher, 84 Victoria St., Toronto, Ont.

According to a statement made by an official of the Imperial Oil Co., that company has spent more than $5,000,000 searching for oil in Alberta and Fort Norman.

Sir Robert Kindersley, former head of the Hudson's Bay Co., as a guest of British financial men will visit the province the coming spring to investigate possibilities for investment.

LOCAL BONSPIEL OPENS MONDAY

Preparations for the local bonspiel, which begins on Monday, have been going on steadily and everything points to the most successful event of the kind yet held here. Indications are that there will be considerably over 100 curlers taking part. Those desiring to enter may report to any curler or to the chairman of the committee, Mr. E. F. Crawford. All entries, however must be in the hands of the secretary, H. E. Gill by Saturday night. The first games will be played on Monday at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. J. L. McInnis Passes

Mrs. J. L. McInnis passed away very suddenly on Friday evening, Jan. 16th at 7 p.m., aged 73 years. The deceased, who has been residing with her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Stephenson, had been indisposed for a few days but her demise was totally unexpected. Mrs. McInnis is survived by three daughters: Mrs. E. H. Mitchell, Victoria, B. C.; Mrs. J. T. Stephenson, Trail, B. C.; and Mrs. J. T. Stephenson, Champion. Two sons living in northern B. C. also survive her. A service was held at the residence on Saturday and the remains shipped to Winnipeg for burial in the family burial plot in Kildonan cemetery. Mrs. Stephenson accompanying. The members of the family have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The most outstanding feature developed in the debate in the House of Commons recently in the Lapointe conference motion was that the Hon. Arthur Meighen, after the defeat in his home riding of Portage la Prairie, appointed a member of parliament to public office in order to provide himself with a seat. Mr. Meighen's anxiety for constitutional practice seems to be confined to the actions of his opponents.

The only men of worth to a town or community are those who forget their own selfish ends long enough and are liberal enough in their ideas to encourage every public and private enterprise, who are ready with brain and purse to push every project calculated to build up the town and enhance its importance. The enterprise and push of a town or community is the foundation of its permanent success.—Ex.

We again thank those who have remembered their obligation to The Chronicle since the first of the year. There are still a large number who would appear to have forgotten the little matter of overdue subscription. In very many cases it is undoubtedly an oversight and we urge your best attention in the near future. Running a paper if difficult when its readers forget to pay up.

The new premier of Alberta will make a public appearance in Calgary today, when he will speak at the big convention. Mr. Brownlee has not been premier for very long, but he has the positive assurance of the natural resources, which has been endorsed by the federal leader of the opposition. Mr. Brownlee does not claim all the credit for securing the resources, but that is a very gratifying start on a premiership—Albertan.

Farmer's Account Books

(Experimental Farms Note)

The Dominion Experimental Farms system has published an extremely simple farmer's account book, designed to last a complete year. To 'keep' it needs no special knowledge of accounting; simply the ability to write and add and a record of all transactions might be made in an hour a week. A few plain directions as to making entries, some aids to taking inventories, a table of silo capacities and a valuation table, are given on the inside of the cover.

In the book itself are pages for the entry of receipts and expenditures (both of which may be seen at a glance on the same page) relative to cattle, horses, sheep, swine, poultry, crops and labour and there is also ample space for miscellaneous items. There is a page for amounts owed to and by the farm, and forms on which may be made inventories of land and buildings, of live stock, of feed and supplies and of machinery. Following is a page on which may be filled out a summary of the year's business, together with the few directions necessary to filling it out intelligently at the end of the year. Further, for the farmer's information there is a table in which to enter acreage and yield of crops, and one in which to keep a live stock service record.

Send for one now and record your transactions from the beginning of 1923. It is obtainable from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, at a nominal charge of ten cents. No postage need be placed on letters of application.

Aluminum furniture is now being made for homes and offices.

Coal operators in Alberta have asked that the dominion government make provision for the shipment of 50,000 tons of Alberta coal to Ontario markets.

The A'sion bridge club met at the house of Mr. G. Vasey's last Tuesday, with seven tables in play. Honors went to Miss Mary Zang and Mr. Geo. Melton. The next meeting will be at Mr. F. Beingsore's house, Jan. 29th.

Most of us have heard the story of the hideousness who, on being asked to return thanks at the wedding breakfast on behalf of his bride, began his speech as follows:

"Friends excuse me if I am a bit nervous. This thing"—here he laid his hand, lovingly, on the head of his young wife—"has been forced upon me."

This story was capped recently by another on somewhat similar lines, the teller being the veteran Sir Squire Bancroft.

Sir Squire's story concerns a nervous builder who began his speech at a public dinner by saying: "Mr. Chairman, I am unaccustomed to public speaking. My proper place is on the scaffold."

GOVERNMENT'S SUSTAINED ON AMENDMENT VOTE

Ottawa—Amid scenes of the wildest excitement the government secured a majority of three on the amendment resolution proposed by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader.

Fifty Progressives voted with the Conservatives. The total vote stood: Against, 122; For, 120; majority against, 2.

At the figures were announced by the clerk, both Liberals and Conservatives roared, cheering frantically, flinging masses of paper in the air in their excitement.

The five Progressives who voted for the Conservative amendment were: Messrs. M. N. Campbell, Mackenzie, Sask.; W. T. Lacombe, Carleton Place, Ont.; A. M. Carmichael, Kildersleepe, Sask.; W. M. Beaulieu, Virden, Man.; W. R. Pender, Lethbridge, Alta.

In the whole house of 245 members there were only two votes not cast. These were the votes of Speaker Lemieux, and A. D. Chaplin, Conservative, Kent, Ont., who is sick in hospital.

Speaking in the house before the vote was taken on the Conservative amendment, Alfred Speckman, Progressive, Red Deer, said: "I am not inclined to vote against the amendment. He was the first Progressive to state formally in the house how he intended to vote."

On the other hand, W. T. Lacombe, a Progressive from Carleton Place, Ontario, said: "I am not inclined to vote against the amendment. He was the first Progressive to state formally in the house how he intended to vote."

Saskatchewan's Sound Economic Position

Premier Dunning in Budget Speech Says Financial Conditions Improved

Regina, Sask.—Declaring that Saskatchewan farmers would receive nearly $100,000,000 from the sale of their surplus farm products in 1925 than in 1924, Premier Dunning, in his tenth budget speech in the legislature here, stated that general economic conditions in Saskatchewan were better now than they had been at any period since the great war. At the same time he urged the need for continued care as well as confidence in the future.

The government did not propose to impose any new taxation or increase any existing taxation.

Saskatchewan closed the fiscal year ending April 30, 1925, with a cash deficit of $166,385, but this was covered many times in money owing to the province under the public revenue tax, the wild lands tax, the old supplementary revenue tax and unpaid succession duties aggregating $1,939,142, he said.

These arrears had been reduced by a little over $200,000 as compared with the previous year.

Supreme Court Must Settle Disputed Point in Contract Sale

Victoria, B.C.—An appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada on a matter of importance to Canadian automobile dealers was granted by the British Columbia appeal court here. The point at issue is whether a purchaser of an automobile or any other article purchased under a conditional contract of sale can sue the vendor for any profit he makes on a resale where he has been prevented from doing so by failure to fulfill the terms of the contract.

E. C. Mayers made the application in the case of Reginald Chish, C. C. Motors of Vancouver. The judge in the lower court held that a purchaser who had failed to fulfill the terms of the contract and surrendered the article purchased, was entitled to sue the vendor for any balance over the contract price on a resale.

The defendant carried the case to the appeal court and by a majority of one the appeal court upheld the decision of the lower court.

Substantial Increase In Production Estimated For This Year

London—Referring to the war approach of the annual survey of the rubber situation by leading London rubber firms, the Daily Mail, it is believed some of them will put the world's consumption for 1925 at 560,000 tons and estimate the production for this year at 580,000 tons. The assumption, says the Daily Mail, there is room for a 25 per cent. increase in consumption this year before production is exhausted. This estimate, generally speaking, says the news paper, seems to indicate that, although rubber still may give some trouble to producing companies, there will be no serious shortage of rubber. A Russian dispatch from Moscow, says the Daily Mail, that the increase of 50 per cent. in the native rubber production for 1925.

Toronto.—Hon. Charles Meighen, Ontario minister of mines, stated that would have been received that the 7,000 tons of Alberta coal forming the balance of the 25,000 tons summer shipment by the C.N.R. would be moved at once. It is expected it will all be at the respective destination points in Ontario by the first week in March.

The Ontario government had received no further communication as to sending Alberta coal in excess of the quantity asked to be delivered.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable
Compound Is a Great Friend—
It Stops Pains and Restores Health

Toronto, Ontario,—"I work in a factory and I would have to get away from my work every time I was sick. The dragging-down pains and cramps were very bad, but my back was terrible. It hurt so that I couldn't lie down with it. I heard some of the girls talking about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they told me to try it. I have used it a dozen bottles of it and it has done me a lot of good. I never have any pains or sore back now, and I have not been off from work a day since I have taken it. I recommend this Vegetable Compound when you have the opportunity."—Miss Kozio, 12 Hovis Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

"The Advice of a Friend"
Harvey, Ontario,—"I was terribly pained and a few old times I almost died. I used to be housework until a few months ago and sometimes I had to leave my work and go to bed. I suffered five or six years from painful periods before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by the advice of a friend. I got relief almost immediately, and I tell my friends that a good medicine is one you may use the best of all. If you like, if it will help others."—Miss J. Frazer, Victoria Street, Harveys, Ontario.

Colds Are Not Necessary Evils
Observance of One Fundamental Rule of Health Protects Against Them

Whether one catches cold easily is largely a question of physical condition. If the general vitality is low, resistance to disease is weak, and such a time, a cold is easy to contract and difficult to cure.
Constipation is frequently the cause of such a state of health, with its attendant indigestion, biliousness, headaches and a general lack of vitality. Poisons from the waste matter that collects behind after improper, irregular bowel elimination are picked up by the blood, and carried to every part of the body. They weaken your resistance to disease. Thousands of people who have suffered from self-poisoning in this way have found that Najid, the internal lubricant makes bowel elimination easy and easy.
Najid softens the waste matter and permits thorough and regular elimination without overtaxing the intestinal muscles. Najid can be taken for any length of time with no ill effects.
If you take cold easily, ask your druggist for Najid to-day. Najid is red in color both bottle and package.

"He was blue—that!" Lerue was saying, with a snap of his fingers. He saw Marie, and stopped.
"Thank you," McGargat said earnestly, without lifting his eyes from his writing. "I'd he not bear some dog mark?"
Lerue shrugged his shoulders.
"He was gone like the wind, Melen. But he was a wolf!"
With scarcely a sound that the others could hear Marie had whisked out into the Pastor's car, and taking his letter, McGargat rose quickly and left the store. He was gone an hour. Lerue and the others were puzzled. It was not often that Marie came into the store; it was not often that they saw her at all. She remained hidden in the Pastor's house, and each time that he saw her Lerue thought that her face was a little thinner than the last, and her eyes bigger and hunger looking. In his own heart there was a great yearning. Many a night he passed the little window beyond which he knew that she was sleeping; often he looked to catch a glimpse of her pale face, and he lived in the joy of knowing that Marie was not dead, and that into her there came for an instant a different light when their glances met. No one else knew. The secret lay between them—and patiently Lerue waited and watched. "Someday," he kept saying to himself—"someday"—and that was all. The one word carried a world of meaning and hope. When that day came he would take Marie straight to the Missioner over at Fort Churchill, and they would be married. It was a dream that made the long days and the longer nights on the trap line patiently endured. Now they were both slaves to the environment. Power. But someday—

CHAPTER XXV.
The trap-line of Pierre Eustach ran thirty miles straight west of Lac Hain. It was not as long as a line at Pierre had been, but it was like a man's arm, turning through the heart of a rich fur country. It belonged to Pierre Eustach's father, and his grandfather, and beyond that it reached, Pierre averred, back to the very pulse of the forest in France. The books at McGargat's post went back only as far as the great grandfathers of the older evidence of ownership being at Churchill. It was the finest game country between Reindeer Lake and the Barren Lands. It was in December that Barre came to it.
Again he was travelling southward in a slow and wandering fashion, seeking food in the deep snow. The Killdeer Kestrel, or Great Storm, had come earlier than usual this winter, and for a week after it, scarcely a hoar or clear was visible. Barre, like the other creatures, did not bury himself in the snow and wait for the big snow to melt. He was big and powerful, and restless. Less than two years old, he weighed a good eighty pounds. His pads were broad and webbed, and his shoulders were like a Mameluk's, heavy and yet muscular for speed. He was wider between the eyes than the wolf-dog, but his eyes were larger, and entirely clear of the Wat, or bloodmist, that marks the eyes of a wolf and also of a dog. His jaws were like Kizan's, perhaps even more powerful. Through all that week of the Big Storm he travelled without food. There were four days of snow, with driving blizzards and fierce winds, and after three days of intense cold in which every living creature kept its warm den out in the snow. Even the birds had buried themselves in. One night he had walked on the back of caribou and moose and not seen them. Three sheltered himself during the worst of the storm but did not allow the snow to gather over him.
Every trap-line from Hudson's Bay to the craters of the Athabasca knew that after the Big Storm the famished fur animals would be out for food, and that traps and deadfalls properly set and baited stood the biggest chance of the year of being filled. Some of them set out over their trap-lines on the sixth day; some on the seventh, and others on the eighth. It was on this day that Barre came. McGargat started over Pierre Eustach's line, which was now his own for the season. It took him two days to reach the trap line, and he was out on the third day he was back at Lac Hain. It was this day that Barre came to the cabin at the far end of McGargat's line. McGargat's trail was fresh in the snow about the cabin, and the instant Barre sniffed of it every drop of blood in his body seemed to leap suddenly with a strange excitement. It took perhaps half a minute for the scent that filled his nostrils to associate itself with what had gone before, and at the end of that half-minute there rumbled in his chest a deep and sudden growl. For many minutes after that he stood like a black rock in the snow, watching the cabin. Then slowly he began circling about it, drawing nearer and nearer, until at last he was snuffing at the threshold. No sound or smell of life came from inside, but he could smell the old smell of McGargat. Then he faced the wilderness—the direction in which the trap-line ran back to Lac Hain. He was trembling. His muscles twitched. He winced. Pictures were assembling, more and more vividly in his mind—the fight in the cabin, Nepeace, the wild chase through the snow to the chasm's edge—even the memory of that aged-old struggle when McGargat had caught him in the rabbit snare. In his wilds there was a great yearning, almost expectation.

How he followed the trail and the quarter of a mile from the cabin struck the first trap on the line. Hain had been in his side until he was like a starved wolf. In the first trap McGargat had placed as bait the hindquarter of a snowshoe rabbit. Barre reached in cautiously. He had learned many things on Pierre's line; he had learned what the snap of a trap meant; he had felt the cruel pain of steel jaws; he knew better than the shrewdest fox what a deadfall would do when the trigger was sprung and the jaws closed. He had taught him that he was never to touch a poison-bait. So he closed his teeth gently in the rabbit flesh and drew it forth as cleverly as McGargat himself could have done. He visited five traps before dark, and at the five baits he had not sprung a pan. The sixth was a dead end. He circled about this one, but he had bent on a path in the snow. Then he went on to a warm barn and found and found himself a bed for the night. (To be continued)

Woman Remover Loves the Life.
"It's a great life and a great country. I wouldn't exchange it for any other in the world." Thus spoke Mrs. Catherine Eustach, a 47-year-old rancher of British Columbia, who recently spent a well-earned holiday in Toronto. Mrs. Eustach is a rancher and not merely a ranch owner, for single-handed she runs a 400-acre stock farm 200 miles from the nearest town. Always she is a hunter, a trapper, a horse woman—and a naturally sunny.

Your Home Medicine Chest.—Among the standard household remedies that should always be on hand in your home medicine chest, none is more important than Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, for relieving rheumatic and neuralgic pains, treating sore throats and chest, coughs, burns, cuts, bruises and sprains.

Mental Production in B.C.
Mining production in British Columbia for 1925 is estimated at $62,000,000, an increase of 30 per cent. over 1924, by the British Columbia chamber of commerce. Always the province's production is in lead, which ran up to nearly $19,000,000. Zinc was practically 100 per cent. more in 1925, being valued at about $2,500,000. More than $2,500,000 in dividends was paid by British Columbia mines during the year.

Do not content—Larks till, 14.
Do not content; be still before

Without him all thy toil is vain.
He is in the midst of spring, thy sun,

Do not content.
—Paul Gerhardt.

I do not think the road to contentment lies in despatching what we have not got. Let us acknowledge all good, all delight that the world holds, and be content without it. But this we can never do by possessing the one thing without which it is not more, as we ought to be content, but no one can be content—the Spirit of the Father—George MacDonald.

What "Blood Pressure" Is Merely An Ideal Common to Everyone
Not a Disease
In a talk broadcast from New York, Dr. Edward S. McIlwain, medical director of the Telephone Company, said, "Blood pressure is a word in vogue, but not a disease, and everyone has a blood pressure just as everyone has a pulse. To measure it is largely a waste within our own control. When abnormal, the reason can be found only by careful general examination, and tests which often puzzle and worry the clearest doctor as to their meaning before he finds the answer. You can help yourself by letting him do the worrying."
The popular saying, "My blood pressure should be the sum of my age plus 100," while in general true, said Dr. McIlwain, "is like many such sayings, apt to be absolutely wrong when applied to any one individual. There is no such thing as a standard blood pressure to which everyone of a given age should conform. In fact, even in the individual there are daily differences; slight variations occur by reason even of changing the position from lying down to standing up, or after meals. It is foolish, therefore, for anyone to attach importance to having lowered or raised his blood pressure a few points."

Britain's Day Not Over
No One Worried Particularly Over
Talk of Nation's Decline

If it is in truth supposed that Britain is in a state of decline, the answer is that she never was. It is a horror that she has no future, it is a horror that she never had. In Elizabethan days, when all these glorious forces that led to the founding of English-speaking America were just beginning to stir, an old chronicler like William Harrison protested that our day was vastly over. . . . Before Armageddon, with our railway strikes, our suffragette struggles, our threats of Irish civil war, the same view was held. Germany believed it implicitly. If she had not Armageddon would never have occurred. After it, we only rushed into our old ways and observers, into their old delusions. It became common talk in France, Germany and Italy alike that Britain was ceasing to be a "Great Power"; and our commercial decline was supposed, as so often before, to be positively for the last time.—J. L. Garvin, in the London Observer.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But medicine doctors are not to be got for just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which is equally effective in treating inflammation, pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

Western Honey Production
Amount of Nectar Produced Last Year
Honey Bee Industry is Making
Considerable progress has been made in the western provinces in recent years in bee culture, according to a bulletin from the department of agriculture. One beekeeper near Lethbridge, Alberta, produced more honey than any other in the province. His entire produce in 1924 in Manitoba the honey crop trebled in three years and in Saskatchewan the reported crop of 1924 was over sixty-six times as large as that of 1918.

Manitoba Fox Industry
Manitoba as a fox-raising province is coming into the limelight. In Vancouver's first annual fox show, out of ten open entries Winnipeg shows nineteen first prizes and one second, in nine first championships and three special trophies.

Baby's Own Tablets Are the Ideal Remedy for Babies and Young Children

Thousands of mothers have found that Baby's Own Tablets and many of them are using them for the ailments of their little ones. Among them is Mrs. Howard King, of Tyron, N.S., who says—"I am a mother of over sixty-six children. I use Baby's Own Tablets to mothers of young children. As I have found them to equal them for little ones."
